Use of an international reference population-based clinical classification for acute ischemic stroke subtyping. The study of stroke classification has made great progress, but thus far, the use of the current classification systems has remained limited. This study aimed to provide a further analysis and practical use of an international reference population-based stroke subtyping system. This was a prospective multicenter registry study. Seventy-seven centers in 14 countries participated in this study. Participants were recruited consecutively from various hospitals in China, Hong Kong, South Korea, the Philippines, and Taiwan. Stroke syndrome, subtype, and topography of ischemic stroke were evaluated and classified according to the International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision. A total of 10,444 patients were recruited, and among them, 6,883 (65.4%) had ischemic stroke. The sample size for subtyping of ischemic stroke was 2,771 (7.5% of all ischemic strokes). The National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke (NINDS) and Trial of Org 10172 in Acute Stroke Treatment (TOAST) criteria were used to classify 5,964 (96.5%) and 228 (3.5%) ischemic strokes into 1 of the categories. Among the 4 categories defined by NINDS, the atherothrombotic infarction was the most common (63.3%), followed by

A blower typically includes a housing and a motor, which is coupled to the housing. The motor provides rotational force to a fan, which is coupled to the motor. Axial flow fans, where the direction of the air flow is parallel to the axis of rotation of the fan blades, are commonly used for blowers. The present disclosure is directed to axial flow fans, including both axial flow fans and cross flow fans (e.g., centrifugal fans).1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an input device for a hand-held electronic device, and particularly relates to an input device having a transparent case and a touch module integrated therein. 2. Description of the Related Art Input devices are widely used in electronic devices for inputting characters, symbols and commands into the electronic devices. Common input devices include the remote controller with keys, which are very well known. When using the remote controller, the user cannot see the key configuration on the remote controller. If the user needs to learn the key configuration, the user must manually memorize the key configuration, and cannot be informed easily. On the other hand, a touch module is also commonly used in input devices. The touch module senses the position of a user's finger in contact with a touch surface of the touch module to determine whether the finger is touching the touch surface, thereby functioning to provide a control signal to the electronic device. Therefore, it is necessary to provide an input device for a hand-held electronic device to mitigate and/or obviate the aforementioned problems.version 1.0 global artefact_name rw command instances dist_dir path client_id=0 config_files=config_files start instance dist_dir./addl_instances config_files./addl_instances./stag_instances end instance dist_dir./example config_files./example./stag_instances end Q: Cannot seem to 3e33713323
