Part A is an authoritative document and Part B refers to specific issues, policies and proposals. The following is a preview of the content of Part A of NDPI-2012. PART A. Objective It is proposed to rationalise and modernise the drug regulatory system in India by introducing the concepts of medicine systems and G-STUDY (Global Study of the Health Workforce and its Utilization) as a diagnostic tool... Part II defines the components of the drug regulatory system (DRS) of India. It emphasizes the importance of developing and effectively managing a well-equipped DRS and the need for the DRS to be functionally managed with a deliberate political approach. INTRODUCTION: NDPI-2012 pdf A. Objectives The objective of the policy is to rationalise and modernise the regulatory system of India in response to the need to effectively protect the health of the people of India. Part A - Objectives The concept of 'medicine system' is a modern concept that is being introduced in the document. The target countries for the G-STUDY include countries in the Indo-Pacific region including India, China, Japan, Indonesia and Australia. C. Scope This Policy is applicable to all classes of medicines including prescription and over the counter drugs. It includes product development and regulatory approvals, and all other aspects of drug manufacture.
