A highly divergent sequence of the 16S rRNA gene from a phototrophic bacterium. In a previous study, we reported the isolation and molecular characterization of a mutant of the purple sulfur bacterium Allochromatium vinosum, which has lost the phototrophic phenotype and its ability to produce vitamin B12. We have isolated the genome of this mutant and show here that it contains, besides the complete 16S rRNA gene, a divergent 16S rRNA gene, which is found in many cyanobacterial genomes.
