Another User-Friendly tool that facilitates simple and easy removal of Adobe Flash Player and various other unwanted plugins from your PC is a plugin remover tool called SWF Decrypter. This tool is based on the same malware detection engine that is at the base of the popular malware scanning tool, Spyware Doctor. The author of this tool is a senior member of the Spyware Doctor team, although SWF Decrypter wasn't officially affiliated with the company. If you are able to decrypt Flash files using SWF Decrypter, the content can be saved locally. However, if you try to save it in a local folder, you can delete SWF files only if you have enough space on the drive. The author of SWF Decrypter didn't try to force you to pay for the product, rather there is a set of freebie versions offered on the tool's homepage that you can use for experimenting with the software. What makes SWF Decrypter different from similar tools is that you don't need to use it to get the decrypted content from SWF files. This means you don't need to pay a dime for it. Instead, you can

The stuff people are selling is extremely dangerous and the sifter program on this page is removed. The sole purpose of this program was to recover the passwords from Chrome. I could not care less about the users original passwords so I removed them and returned the program to it's original purpose. By the way I am also an IT professional and use this program to recover user passwords to all my business e-mails, contacts and websites.
