Measure distances quickly and easily with the help of this ruler. Use it to ensure that each of the stick figures on your documents or websites is placed in the desired position. StormRuler is a small software application whose purpose is to help you measure different objects or distances between them with the aid of a screen ruler. Keep it on portable devices This is a portable program which makes it an ideal candidate for being saved on USB flash drives. You can gain access to the tool's features by simply running the executable file (there's no installation included in the process). A quick deletion task is sufficient for getting rid of the utility because it does not store entries in your Windows registry and leave other settings files behind. All configuration items are saved on the storage device. You may open the utility without administrative privileges and run it directly from the USB flash drive. Minimalist looks You are welcomed by a clean and simple layout that hides only a few configuration settings under the hood. The dedicated parameters look highly intuitive so you can easily make an idea about how to tweak them. You cannot appeal to a help manual. How it works StormRuler gives you the possibility to move the ruler to the desired desktop position using drag-and-drop actions. The ruler is semitransparent and is placed on top of other programs by default. Working with this ruler proves to be nothing more than a piece of cake. You just need to place the ruler next to the object that you want to measure and set the ruler's tick to the desired position. Tests have pointed out that StormRuler carries out a task quickly and without errors. It does not eat up a lot of CPU and memory resources so the overall performance of the computer is not affected. Final remarks To sum things up, StormRuler comes bundled with basic features for helping you measure distances on the fly. The simple suite of features makes it suitable especially for less experienced users.

Q: Get the only matched result with group and weight I'm using Elasticsearch as my primary search tool for managing some log files. I have, for example, the following query: "query": { "match": { "req_source": "78" } }

And the document I want is: { "req_source": "78", "ip": "1.2. b7e8fdf5c8
