Now for the software but it is the same software but i would recommend you get one that has a bigger capacity of memory and a bigger keyboard. On the next note i would go to miis website and download their miis software and just setup the operating system that you want to use (any from x32 to x64) and then click on the next button to install the software. I would recommend you get the current release of the software for the biggest amount of features. Once that has been done then find out what wireless network your laptop will be using if you are doing it online by going online with your browser and typing www.miis.com and then in the search bar type in your computer's network name such as 192.168.x.x or 10.x.x.x and you should get the overview of the network your laptop
