ОРДЕНТАМЦОВСКАЮТСЯ: Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a method of and an apparatus for sifting powdery particles, and more particularly to a method and an apparatus for sifting powdery particles, which method and apparatus are used, for example, to carry out a dust removing operation on semiconductor parts, lead frames, lead pins, etc., which are required to have a very high cleanliness or quality. 2. Description of the Related Art It is necessary for dust removal from semiconductor parts, lead frames, etc. to carry out a thorough cleaning operation, involving sifting and subsequent cleaning of the resulting sifted powdery particles, before subjecting the treated materials to the next working steps. According to the conventional sifting technique, the kinds of powdery particles, the number and the size of the particles of interest are determined based on the sifting conditions, and the sifting operation is conducted while varying the type, the number and the size of the particles of interest or the conditions such as pressure, speed, etc. The conventional sifting technique has been described, for example, in Japanese Patent Laying-Open 6d1f23a050
