7.1.1.2.3 Portable.Q: How to prevent

`ALLOW_BACKGROUND_SYNC_FOR_FRAME` in Java

WebSocket I read there are many versions of `enableBackgroundSyncForFrame` in Java WebSocket. But I'm also read there are many versions of `allowBackgroundSyncForFrame` in Java WebSocket. Java WebSocket client allows to enable background sync for every frame. How to prevent `ALLOW_BACKGROUND_SYNC_` `FOR_FRAME` in Java

WebSocket? A: From the JavaDoc of the API ( JavaDoc of `WebSocketConnection.allowBack` `groundSyncForFrame` ), it appears that it only works on Android 5.0 and later. Now, on Android 6.0 and later, the default policy is as follows:
Controls whether the WebSocket server will allow WebSocket clients to send frames in the background. On Android 5.0 and earlier, this policy is explicitly enabled by default. On Android 6.0 and later, this policy is automatically enabled. If you want to disable the WebSocket background-sync feature on Android 6.0 and later, you have to implement a CustomWebSocketSubProtocol Handler according to the JavaDoc of `WebSocketConnection.getProto` colHandler(). Could you take some time, step back, and look at the current health
