The blurred object will turn out to be a spray-like shape. You can blur an object by specifying the radius of the circle that is used to surround the selected object for every distance. Path refers to a line or shape where you can easily draw objects like erasing, filling, matting, and striking. Different from the regular line in image editing tools, paths allow you to draw shapes freely. If you try to draw a shape that is too like a closed loop, it will be merged to the previous shapes. You can create shapes with a desired stroke for future use. The following tags along with potential related tags and labels are used to filter the content shown with this particular theme:
